53-lot subdivision taking shape along South Pond

The Greenwood Planning Board recently approved the first two phases of what will be a 53-lot subdivision on South Pond.

The lots, including 14 lakefront lots, are all five acres or more. The acreage was purchased two years ago by a California resident, William Glad, of Chula Vista, and included the nearly 300 acres of what had been land owned by the Ebec mill. Mr. Glad, who has a brother in South Paris, purchased Abbott's Anchorage about a year ago so that the upland households would have a common access to the pond.

While no building has yet taken place, a number of the lots have already been sold, according to Greenwood town officials, at prices said to be about $60,000 to $85,000 for the lakefront lots. Sales are being handled by Early Real Estate.

Included in the deeds for the lots are restrictive covenants governing the use and construction of any dwelling put on the lot. For example, only single-family residences can be built and the owner cannot subdivide the lot.

"I'm sure it will be one of the better developments in western Maine," said Dana Douglas, the surveyor who laid out the lots. "[And] it will add quite a touch to their [Greenwood's] tax base."

SPECIAL SAD #44 MEETING

OKs PRECONSTRUCTION FUNDS

Thirty-seven SAD #44 voters favored the appropriation of $25,000 from the district's undesignated fund balance to be expended for preconstruction work on the proposed addition to the Crescent Park School. No votes were cast in opposition.

The $25,000 is scheduled to be expended as follows: $7,000 for land survey legal fees and fees for the $500 (architectural survey), and $17,000 (necessary architectural work). These expenses would be reimbursed under a final building budget for the project.

At a public hearing held in November there was no opposition concerning a proposed addition at Crescent Park School, that would likely contain 11 classrooms, a multipurpose room, cafeteria, library, special education classrooms, and office space. Construction of this addition would permit all Bethel area students, kindergarten through grade six, to be located in a single facility. The sixth grade would be removed from Telstar Middle School and Ethel Bisbee School closed.

Bill Cousins served as moderator of the half hour session.

Conference on substance abuse in Bethel, Feb. 3-6

More than 125 people who attended a week-long team development training institute in Brunswick last July on the prevention of alcohol and drug abuse problems are reconvening for a follow-up conference Feb. 3-6 in Bethel. The training is being provided by the Division of Alcohol and Drug Education Services, Bureau of Instruction of the Maine Department of Educational and Cultural Services.

According to division director Carl Alowant, there will be seven school/community teams participating in the 12th team development follow-up conference.

The communities sending teams are Erskine Academy, Hineckley Home/School/Farm, SAD #5, SAD #74, Union #25, Union #27 and Union #113.

The follow-up conference is designed to assess the progress of the school/community teams since the training was conducted last July. Teams will review their accomplishments within their schools and communities and plan strategies for implementing additional programs and services for alcohol and drug prevention and education.

Hearing on Marketplace bankruptcy this Friday

A hearing is scheduled for this Friday at the office of the bankruptcy court trustee, in Portland, concerning the bankruptcy case involving John Praeger, d/b/a the Locke Mills Marketplace. The local supermarket filed for reorganization under Chapter 11 last month. This followed an earlier suit by three creditors to have a judge find the Marketplace bankrupt under Chapter 7—voluntary bankruptcy.

According to court documents, the Marketplace has debts of over $80,000 to the 20 largest unsecured creditors. Among them are Associated Grocers, of Manchester, N.H., which is owed $11,154; Higgins Office Products, of South Portland, which is owed $7,746; WVTB, of Gray, which is owed $2,868; Locust Farm Dairy, of Limerington, which is owed $2,770; the Lewiston Sun Journal, which is owed $1,269.

The largest creditor—the Bethel Savings Bank—is not listed because the amount owed it is secured by property.

Newry Planning Board approves condo project

The Newry Planning Board, last Wednesday night, approved plans for the 122-unit Brookside Condominiums, near D.W. McKen's restaurant, off the Sunday River skiway access road.

The project is to be built in two phases, with construction beginning this May. The completion date of the second phase is December 1988.

The Brookside Condominiums are expected to be served by a new chairlift to move skiers quickly and easily from the condos to Barker Mountain.

A meeting has been scheduled between the board and Sunday River Skiway Corp. officials for Feb. 4 to look over plans for further building projects at the ski resort, including additions to D.W. McKen's restaurant and to the Barker Mountain lodge.

Jeff Yates presented to the board an application for subdividing 22 acres of Sunny Hill subdivision into four lots. The application was accepted as complete. The board will discuss it further at the Feb. 4 meeting.

The remainder of the meeting was given over to discussing the Comprehensive Plan being worked on. The drafters are still in the data-gathering stage, it was reported. It was recommended that some of the money appropriated by town meeting to produce the plan be allocated to hire someone to do the data collecting.

Tourist establishments please take notice

The final distribution of The Citizen's winter tourism tabloid, published in November, will be made this weekend to ski shops and other sports outlets in Massachusetts.

There are still a few thousand copies of the colorful tabloid at The Citizen office. If you host skiers or snowmobilers or other visitors, feel free to pick up a stack of the tabloids to offer to your guests.

The Citizen printed 35,000 copies of the tabloid. They were first distributed at the Boston Ski Show and then were mailed directly to 15,000 skiers throughout New England, using the mailing list of "Ski" magazine.

Additionally, the tabloid was inserted in the Lynnfield Village—the local paper of Lynnfield, Mass., and ample supplies of the tabloid were left at ski shops, YAWWCA's, and tourist information centers from Boston to Killary.

The next tourism tabloid will be published prior to the summer tourism season.

Host families needed for Spanish youth visit

The Bethel Rotary Club, along with other community volunteers, is looking for families to host the 20 Spanish students coming to Bethel the weekend of July 11 for a two-week visit.

The Spanish children, ages 12-14, are coming from Mijas, Spain, in the first phase of what is expected to be a continuing educational exchange between Bethel and Mijas. The Rotary Club hopes to send 20 Bethel area youngsters to Mijas during the summer of 1988 to complete the exchange.

Most critical at the moment is the selection of host families for these young ambassadors from Spain. The families being sought as hosts should live in SAD #44; they should be able to commit themselves to being hosts for the entire two weeks of the visit; they should be willing to provide both room and board, plus transportation to the group's assembly point each day of the visit; they must be willing to participate in orientation sessions before the visit; some knowledge of Spanish would be helpful, as would be having school children already in the household.

Rotary Club President Dave Preble pointed out that the only expenses incurred by the host families would be for room and board and transportation to the daily assembly point.

Interested families are urged to pick up family profile forms at the SAD #44 Adult Ed office at Telstar, or from Mr. Preble, at Prim's Pharmacy. The deadline for returning the completed forms is Feb. 13.

A negotiated agreement between the Telstar Educators Association and the SAD #44 Board of Directors for the period of September 1987 to August 1988 (inclusive) was ratified by the directors. [It is expected that the Telstar Educators Association will vote on the agreement in the very near future.]

Natalie Timberlake (coordinator of pupil personnel services), extended school year for special needs students; Mrs. Nancy Davis (CPS/EBS principal), "Plus T.L.M.E." would be dedicated to improving "Trust, Interaction, Morale, and Energy" within the CPS and EBS staffs, with a two-day retreat before school begins and continued throughout the school year with a combination of weekly meetings (for the entire staff), informal get-togethers, several longer sessions throughout the year, and released time provided by trained substitutes; Mrs. Elizabeth Mikenus-Smith (elementary music teacher), musical instruments and sensory integration into the elementary music program. The board declined to grant authorization for replication by Michael DeJahany (Telstar computer teacher) for an innovative grant dealing with a computer hook-up system between all schools of SAD #44.

The board accepted a donation of $35.84 from the Woodstock Conservation Commission to be used for a nature trail at the new Woodstock Elementary School. The funds need to be approved at the annual Woodstock town meeting.

The directors accepted the resignation of Mrs. Lenrice Chase, school year custodian, and authorized the posting of a vacancy in the position.

A request for termination of school attendance concerning a 15-year-old student at Telstar Middle School was granted by the directors.

Board member John Foster of Andover was not present at the Monday session.

The next regular meeting of the board of directors is scheduled for 7:30 Monday evening, Feb. 9, in the library at Telstar Regional High School.

Opinions

The dream is still just that

With the vision of ignorant, fearful, Forsyth County (Georgia) people shouting abuse at their fellow Americans of different races and creeds still fresh in our collective memory, it is well to recall some of the words of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. The following excerpts are from his "I Have a Dream" speech, given in Washington, D.C. on Aug. 28, 1963 before more than 200,000 people.

Five score years ago, a great American, in whose symbolic shadow we stand, signed the Emancipation Proclamation. But one hundred years later, we must face the tragic fact that the Negro is still not free.

Now is the time to make real the promises of democracy. Now is the time to open the doors of opportunity to all of God's children. Now is the time to lift our nation from the quicksands of racial injustice to the solid rock of brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: "We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal."

With this faith we will be able to work together, to pray together, to struggle together, to go to jail together, to stand up for freedom together, knowing that we will be free one day.

This will be the day when all of God's children will be able to sing with new meaning, "My country 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing. Land where my fathers died, land of the Pilgrims' pride, from every mountainside, let freedom ring."

When we let freedom ring, when we let it ring from every village and every hamlet, from every state and every city, we will be able to speed up that day when all of God's children—black men and white men, Jews and Gentiles, Protestants and Catholics—will be able to join hands and sing in the words of the old Negro spiritual, "Free at last! Free at last! Thank God Almighty, we are free at last!"

Martin Luther King Day celebrated at W.E.S.

The various grades at Woodstock Elementary School held a number of different activities relating to the recent observance of Martin Luther King Day.

Kindergartners read a short story in the scholastic newspaper about Rev. King, and looked at the pictures. The class then had a discussion about it, including the dreams they would wish for. They then drew pictures of their dreams. The dreams included: a world where people would get along, a world where people would love one another, a world where people wouldn't fight.

Grade 1 did a social studies page on Rev. King as well as a discrimination exercise based on the eye colors of the students. Brown-eyed students received privileges the other students didn't. The class made Martin Luther King peace medals featuring a dove and olive branch and the students wore the medals during the day.

Grade 2 also made peace medals and discussed what they meant. The students also made a "semantic web" featuring words associated with Rev. King. They also discussed what "Jr." and "Sr." mean.

Grade 3 discussed the reasons for celebrating the birthday of Rev. King. Picture books and worksheets gave students interesting facts about the struggle by blacks for equality with whites. Creative writing allowed students to share their opinions on what freedom means to them. The classroom diary allowed students to jot down what they had learned as well as to use new vocabulary, such as "segregation" and "civil rights." The class also wrote a poem in Dr. King's honor. Each verse began with a letter of his name. Pictures were drawn by the students to accompany each verse of the poem.

Grade 4 read from the book "Martin Luther King, Jr." by Lillie Patterson. The students discussed his work and what he stood for. They talked about the hardships black people had to overcome.

Grade 5 had a class discussion during social studies about Rev. King. They talked about who he was and why he was important to America.

Grade 6 discussed the background of Dr. King. They brought out all the facts they could think of, with the teacher filling in areas they missed. The concept of segregation was talked about—its meaning, how it used to apply, how and where it still applies, and what's been done to change it.

In the Resource Room, students began their journal entries on Jan. 15 (Dr. King's birthdate) with something about the slain civil rights leader. There was a general discussion about the man.

In the Composite Room, during Language time, the group talked about ways to be friends with people. There was a short story about Dr. King. Students practiced responses to different situations, including making friends, settling arguments, sharing with others, and helping other kids feel better if they had a fight. Then the students colored their Martin Luther King Peace Awards, strung them on yarn and wore them all day.

"I am very pleased to have been reappointed to Transportation," Mr. Mills said, "and will continue to work hard to see that our area receives its fair share in the allocation process." Mr. Mills' district (District 49) extends from Bethel to Rangeley.

Constituents in District 49 who would like information about the status of bills, who wish to share their opinion on an issue, or who need help in dealing with state government may call the Legislature's toll-free number, 1-800-423-2900. Rep. Mills will be given their names and numbers and will return their calls. During busy periods, callers may get a recorded message.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to Mrs. Elizabeth Carter's article concerning the well being of animals in our community as well as others. First of all, I think that Debbie Wheeler did an excellent job and I hope that whoever takes her place can do as well.

I have seen a lot of animals neglected especially during the winter months. I don't understand how a dog, chained outside in below 0° temperature, with little or no shelter can be expected to fend for him- or herself?

Farm animals got neglected also. The cold weather seems to keep the owners from feeding them at a regular time or they are forgotten completely for days at a time.

People don't seem to understand that when you get a pet there is a certain amount of responsibility that comes with it. They depend on you for love, affection and food. If you aren't aware of the seriousness of cruelty of animals, there are a lot of cases just in our area. Look around, they need to be reported.

I know that I get very attached to my animals more than some people, but they are a part of my life.

My advice to some people is: If you want something that requires little care and attention—Get a Cactus!

Berta Smith

To the Editor:

When my family expressed an interest in taking up skiing as a winter activity, I was more than happy to go along with their request, having enjoyed it as a youngster.

Living in Connecticut, there are not a lot of choices as far as ski areas are concerned.

The usual weekend consists of an early morning drive of 2½ hours to a southern Vermont area, such as Mount Snow or Stratton, 6-7 hours on the slope, and then the 2½ hour trek back.

That's why the trip back home to Bethel, to visit parents and get in some skiing on the trails where I learned to ski as a youngster, is always looked forward to with excitement.

We have skied both Mount Abram and Sunday River and we all enjoyed them very much. Also the five minute ride from the house was considerably more pleasant.

The only item of concern was that, at Sunday River, there were spots of water and ice, that smelled and appeared to be sewage. A number of people were commenting on this and the areas had to be marked off to prevent people from skiing through them.

One of the many lessons taught to me as a child being raised in Bethel, was, if you're going to do something, do it right—the first time. If you're going to do something that may affect other people or the environment, don't even consider it, unless you do it right.

So many areas of Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Cape Cod have been over developed, crowded and poorly planned. These places are wall to wall outlets, shopping malls, and tourist traps. They are also being passed over for more virgin territories such as Maine. Having been used-up, they are no longer "nice places" to go and are not as popular as in their hey-day.

Take a lesson from Kittery and Freeport, Rte. 1. These used to be nice scenic rides along the coast. Now a trip down Rte. 1 is a bumper-to-bumper nightmare. Even closer to home is the town of North Conway, once a picturesque little town,

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

Here are some brief sketches Citizen readers might like to have in one place—Some famous citizens of Woodstock, Maine:

• Governor Sidney Perham—governor of Maine after the Civil War. A Temperance candidate. Buried in Lakeside Cemetery.

• Captain John Dearborn—naval hero. Once owned present Woodstock Museum. Buried in Greenwood and Woodstock. Buried in Lakeside.

• William Berry Lapham—wrote many histories of local Maine towns, including Woodstock. Buried in Lakeside.

• Gen. James Alger—served in Philippines, Africa, Korea, Central America. Long-time summer resident.

• Mrs. Hayes—daughter of President Rutherford B. Hayes.

Visitors to Woodstock have included Presidents Grant and Coolidge and Mrs. Ringling of circus fame. A couple of well-known artists came from Woodstock. Famous musicians of the caliber of Jascha Heifetz came to Birch Villa.

We have undoubtedly forgotten someone, but this is at least a partial list readers might appreciate having. Every town has citizens of note, and these are some of ours. It would be a shame to forget about them as time dims the memory. And there are hundreds of lesser-known inhabitants who have nevertheless led simple, good lives. Let's not forget them. They are important to us too.

We should also note that the finance committee of the society is becoming more active preparing for summer. They are ordering more stationery, pens, and town histories to sell. They are hoping to produce a calendar with old pictures for 1988. They would welcome other suggestions for fund-raising, and we certainly thank them so much for their work for the society and the town.

APPLE-USERS MEETING FEB. 4

The Bethel Area Apple Users Group will meet for their February meeting Wednesday, Feb. 4, in Room 101 at Telstar Regional High School, 7-9 p.m. Tom Ford, of the Gould Academy Science Department, will lead a "hands-on" class on construction of a light probe, and related software, using the game port on the Apple IIe. He will demonstrate other interesting uses of the game port.

In addition to the program, the Apple Users Group will offer those attending the opportunity to obtain free public domain software from the Southern Maine Apple Users Group Library. Alan Buckman is in charge of the disk copying, and will be glad to make copies for anyone who provides their own blank disk. The now a congested spot on a highway, a progression, which cost them the Volvo tennis open.

The message is not—stop progress—but think about progress and move ahead, doing it right, the first time.

Bethel is a beautiful community. It can handle growth and progress—properly managed. Take an active interest in your home town and proceed with caution.

Gould basketball

Buckfield 74—Gould 66

Last Friday evening the Gould Academy men's varsity basketball team faced the Buckfield Bucks, currently ranked #2 in Western Maine Class D. Buckfield had an incredible start, thanks to the hot shooting of Cody Fitzgerald and Jason Douglass, and jumped out to an 11-2 lead. Gould fought back though as Kurt Crandall connected on several long bombs and Alex Nevens hit a pair of baseline jumpers, to cut the Bucks lead to five, 19-14, at the end of the first quarter. For the rest of the game both teams matched each other on baskets, as Gould tried but could never overcome their early deficit. When the buzzer sounded the Bucks left the court with a narrow 74-66 win over Dick Dohrmann's scrappy Huskies. For the winners Fitzgerald scored 20 points, Billy Litchfield had 17, and Douglass added 15. For the Huskies Crandall scored a game high 27 points while Pete Bizer and Nevens each totaled 12.

Gould 64—Telstar 61

The next day it was the "Battle of the Bethel Boys" as Class D Gould faced cross-town rivals Class C Telstar. After the opening tip-off Gould jumped to an early lead as Gould's Kurt Crandall hit four straight baskets. Telstar hung tough behind the inside play of Scott Haines (26 points) and Ken Viger (12 points). Gould held on to a six point cushion until half-time when the score read 34-24. After intermission the Rebels began to close the gap as Chris Torrey (11 points) and Chris Chapman (10 points) each scored a pair of baskets. Gould matched Telstar's spurt as Alex Nevens and Chris Drouin got hot, until with two minutes left in the fourth quarter Telstar took its first lead of 61-59. Then Gould drove down and missed a jumper but Chris Drouin snagged the rebound and laid it in for two and drew a foul. Drouin, "the man of the hour," calmly went to the line and banked in his free throw. Telstar then dribbled down court and threw away the ball. On the inbound pass Gould's Crandall was fouled and sank both his free throws to put the game out of reach of the Rebels. When the final buzzer sounded the scoreboard read 64-61 and the Huskies left with the bragging rights in Bethel—until the next game.

Gould is now 5-2 for the season in SPA play for Class D.

Martin Luther King Day commemorated at AES

Students at Andover Elementary School all took part in special activities in connection with the observance of the holiday to commemorate the birth of the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., last week.

Mrs. Sabin's Kindergarten class made daily reference to the King holiday as part of the morning calendar activities beginning back on Jan. 5. The week prior to the holiday, general teacher-directed classroom discussions were held explaining the importance of the man and the holiday. The students had no prior information about the holiday, but some commented they had seen it discussed on the nightly news.

Mrs. Gallant's Grade 1 class had a discussion about Rev. King and about his dream of freedom for all men. The children then did some role-playing, taking turns being a minority and then discussing how it made them feel to be left out. A bulletin board on Rev. King was put up in the hallway.

In Mrs. Meisner's Grade 2 class, a special bulletin board was made displaying pictures and information on Dr. King. Mrs. Meisner read stories and articles to the children. They were: "A Very Special Man," by Judy Masni; "Martin Luther King Jr.—A Man with a Dream," from Copycat Newspaper; and "A Child Named Martin," by Valerie Wilson Wesley. The class also did a worksheet entitled "In Praise of Martin Luther King." Each morning, as part of Morning Exercises, the class discussed the holiday and children explained the reasons for the holiday.

In Miss Stuart's Grade 3 class, students listened to "Martin Luther King," by Rae Bates, and heard excerpts from Dr. King's "I have a dream" speech. Class discussion followed. The students also did a worksheet entitled "A Man for All People" and a "Freedom" word search. Students were encouraged to watch the TV news to see and hear Dr. King, many did.

In Mrs. Morgan's Grade 4 class, students read stories of Martin Luther King's early life at home and the influence of his family experiences. They learned of his education beyond high school, his pride in his children, and his dream for America. They discussed the experience of Rosa Parks on the bus in Montgomery, Ala., and the effect of the bus boycott by black residents of that city.

In Mr. Emery's Grade 5 class, students first had to establish who Martin Luther King Jr. was, what he accomplished, and during what time he lived. They talked about what he believed in and how he went about securing equal rights for blacks through peaceful means. The class related this to South Africa's present-day problems and the recent tension in Georgia. The class also talked about Abraham Lincoln and the Emancipation Proclamation and how this tied in to Rev. King's beliefs.

In Mr. Sabin's Grade 6 class, students discussed the history of the civil rights movement and the part played in the movement by Rev. King. Students were encouraged to watch TV shows about the life and achievements of Dr. King and the class discussed what they had seen on TV.

Safety Tip of the Week
The temperature isn't the only weather factor important to determine the outside conditions. The second most important factor is wind, the third being moisture.

When the wind blows, the wind chill factor (the temperature including the effects of the speed of the wind) decreases with the speed. The wind cools the body very rapidly, increasing the chance of frostbite or hypothermia. Exposed areas of skin, like the face or hands, are particularly vulnerable to frostbite.

The presence of moisture either from the air, from sweat caused by exertion, or from ground water like ponds or streams greatly increase the risk of hypothermia. Clothing is vital to protect

JEFF MARKS, NEWS DIRECTOR OF WCSH-TV, Channel 6, was the guest speaker at a recent Rotary breakfast meeting. Mr. Marks and his staff are responsible for putting on four newscasts a day. Planning for the day's newscasts begins the day before, he said, with the list of stories to be tackled on the 6 p.m. newscast actually getting put together that morning. The deadlines of TV news have no leeway, he said. "We can't hold the presses. We have to go on at 6." While he has only seven or eight reporters out gathering news, he has a news staff of 34—and those are the more important people, he said. "The key to success in this business [is] who you hire for behind the scenes." The other key for success is accuracy. "Scarcely a week goes by when someone doesn't call up and say, 'I'm going to sue you.' So we have to be right." So far the station has not been sued in the three years he's been in charge of the newscasts. Mr. Marks revealed that the station would be beefing up its coverage of Oxford County news by adding a full-time reporter to its Lewiston office.

Opinions

The dream is still just that

With the vision of ignorant, fearful, Forsyth County (Georgia) people shouting abuse at their fellow Americans of different races and creeds still fresh in our collective memory, it is well to recall some of the words of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. The following excerpts are from his "I Have a Dream" speech, given in Washington, D.C. on Aug. 28, 1963 before more than 200,000 people.

Five score years ago, a great American, in whose symbolic shadow we stand, signed the Emancipation Proclamation. But one hundred years later, we must face the tragic fact that the Negro is still not free.

Now is the time to make real the promises of democracy. Now is the time to open the doors of opportunity to all of God's children. Now is the time to lift our nation from the quicksands of racial injustice to the solid rock of brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: "We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal."

With this faith we will be able to work together, to pray together, to struggle together, to go to jail together, to stand up for freedom together, knowing that we will be free one day.

This will be the day when all of God's children will be able to sing with new meaning, "My country 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing. Land where my fathers died, land of the Pilgrims' pride, from every mountainside, let freedom ring."

When we let freedom ring, when we let it ring from every village and every hamlet, from every state and every city, we will be able to speed up that day when all of God's children—black men and white men, Jews and Gentiles, Protestants and Catholics—will be able to join hands and sing in the words of the old Negro spiritual, "Free at last! Free at last! Thank God Almighty, we are free at last!"

Martin Luther King Day celebrated at W.E.S.

The various grades at Woodstock Elementary School held a number of different activities relating to the recent observance of Martin Luther King Day.

Kindergartners read a short story in the scholastic newspaper about Rev. King, and looked at the pictures. The class then had a discussion about it, including the dreams they would wish for. They then drew pictures of their dreams. The dreams included: a world where people would get along, a world where people would love one another, a world where people wouldn't fight.

Grade 1 did a social studies page on Rev. King as well as a discrimination exercise based on the eye colors of the students. Brown-eyed students received privileges the other students didn't. The class made Martin Luther King peace medals featuring a dove and olive branch and the students wore the medals during the day.

Grade 2 also made peace medals and discussed what they meant. The students also made a "sacrament web" featuring words associated with Rev. King. They also discussed what "Jr." and "Sr." mean.

Grade 3 discussed the reasons for celebrating the birthday of Rev. King. Picture books and worksheets gave students interesting facts about the struggle by blacks for equality with whites. Creative writing allowed students to share their opinions on what freedom means to them. The classroom diary allowed students to jot down what they had learned as well as to use new vocabulary, such as "segregation" and "civil rights." The class also wrote a poem in Dr. King's honor. Each verse began with a letter of his name. Pictures were drawn by the students to accompany each verse of the poem.

Grade 4 read from the book "Martin Luther King, Jr." by Lillie Patterson. The students discussed his work and what he stood for. They talked about the hardships black people had to overcome.

Grade 5 had a class discussion during social studies about Rev. King. They talked about who he was and why he was important to America.

Grade 6 discussed the background of Dr. King. They brought out all the facts they could think of, with the teacher filling in areas they missed. The concept of segregation was talked about—its meaning, how it used to apply, how and where it still applies, and what's been done to change it.

In the Resource Room, students began their journal entries on Jan. 15 (Dr. King's birthday) with something about the slain civil rights leader. There was a general discussion about the man.

In the Composite Room, during Language time, the group talked about ways to be friends with people. There was a short story about Dr. King. Students practiced responses to different situations: including making friends, settling arguments, sharing with others, and helping other kids feel better if they had a fight. Then the students colored their Martin Luther King Peace Awards, strung them on yarn and wore them all day.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to Mrs. Elizabeth Carter's article concerning the well being of animals in our community as well as others. First of all, I think that Debbie Wheeler did an excellent job and I hope that whoever takes her place can do as well.

I have seen a lot of animals neglected especially during the winter months. I don't understand how a dog, chained outside in below 0° temperature, with little or no shelter can be expected to fend for him- or herself?

Farm animals get neglected also. The cold weather seems to keep the owners from feeding them at a regular time or they are forgotten completely for days at a time.

People don't seem to understand that when you get a pet there is a certain amount of responsibility that comes with it. They depend on you for love, affection and food. If you aren't aware of the seriousness of cruelty to animals, there are a lot of cases just in our area. Look around, they need to be reported.

I know that I get very attached to my animals more than some people, but they are a part of my life.

My advice to some people is: If you want something that requires little care and attention—Get a Cactus!

Berta Smith

To the Editor:

When my family expressed an interest in taking up skiing as a winter activity, I was more than happy to go along with their request, having enjoyed it as a youngster.

Living in Connecticut, there are not a lot of choices as far as ski areas are concerned.

The usual weekend consists of an early morning drive of 2½ hours to a southern Vermont area, such as Mount Snow or Stratton, 6½ hours on the slope, and then the 2½ hour trek back.

That's why the trip back home to Bethel, to visit parents and get in some skiing on the trails where I learned to ski as a youngster, is always looked forward to with excitement.

We have skied both Mount Abram and Sunday River and we all enjoyed them very much. Also the five minute ride from the house was considerably more pleasant.

The only item of concern was that, at Sunday River, there were spots of water and ice, that smelled and appeared to be sewage. A number of people were commenting on this and the areas had to be marked off to prevent people from skiing through them.

One of the many lessons taught to me as a child being raised in Bethel, was, if you're going to do something, do it right—the first time. If you're going to do something that may affect other people or the environment, don't even consider it, unless you do it right.

So many areas of Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Cape Cod have been over developed, crowded and poorly planned. These places are wall to wall outlets, shopping malls, and tourist traps. They are also being passed over for more virgin territories such as Maine. Having been used-up, they are no longer "nice places" to go and are not as popular as in their hey-day.

Take a lesson from Kittery and Freeport, Rte. 1. These used to be nice scenic rides along the coast. Now a trip down Rte. 1 is a bumper-to-bumper nightmare. Even closer to home is the town of North Conway, once a picturesque little town,

Visitors to Woodstock have included Presidents Grant and Coolidge and Mrs. Ringling of circus fame. A couple of well-known artists came from Woodstock.

Famous musicians of the caliber of Jascha Heifetz came to Birch Villa.

We have undoubtedly forgotten someone, but this is at least a partial list readers might appreciate having. Every town has citizens of note, and these are some of ours. It would be a shame to forget about them as time dims the memory. And there are hundreds of lesser-known inhabitants who have nevertheless led simple, good lives. Let's not forget them. They are important to us too.

We should also note that the finance committee of the society is becoming more active preparing for summer. They are ordering more stationery, pens, and town histories to sell. They are hoping to produce a calendar with old pictures for 1988. They would welcome other suggestions for fund-raising, and we certainly thank them so much for their work for the society and the town.

APPLE-USERS MEETING FEB. 4

The Bethel Area Apple Users Group will meet for their February meeting Wednesday, Feb. 4, in Room 104 at Telstar Regional High School, 7-9 p.m. Tom Ford, of the Gould Academy Science Department, will lead a "hands-on" class on construction of a light probe, and related software, using the game port on the Apple IIe. He will demonstrate other interesting uses of the game port.

In addition to the program, the Apple Users Group will offer those attending the opportunity to obtain free public domain software from the Southern Maine Apple Users Group Library. Alan Buckman is in charge of the disk copying, and will be glad to make copies for anyone who provides their own blank disk. The now a congested spot on a highway, a progression, which cost them the Volvo terms open.

The message is not—stop progress—but think about progress and move ahead, doing it right, the first time.

Bethel is a beautiful community. It can handle growth and progress—properly managed. Take an active interest in your home town and proceed with caution.

Gould basketball

Buckfield 74—Gould 66

Last Friday evening the Gould Academy men's varsity basketball team faced the Buckfield Bucks, currently ranked #2 in Western Maine Class D. Buckfield had an incredible start, thanks to the hot shooting of Cody Fitzgerald and Jason Douglass, and jumped out to an 11-2 lead. Gould fought back though as Kurt Crandall connected on several long baseline jumpers, to cut the Bucks lead to five, 19-14, at the end of the first quarter. For the rest of the game both teams matched each other on baskets, as Gould tried but could never overcome their early deficit. When the buzzer sounded the Bucks left the court with a narrow 74-66 win over Dick Dohmann's scrappy Huskies. For the winners Fitzgerald scored 20 points, Billy Litchfield had 17, and Douglass added 15. For the Huskies Crandall scored a game high 27 points while Pete Blzier and Nevens each totaled 12.

Gould 64—Telstar 61

The next day it was the "Battle of the Bethel Boys" as Class D Gould faced crosstown rivals Class C Telstar. After the opening tip-off Gould jumped to an early lead as Gould's Kurt Crandall hit for four straight baskets. Telstar hung tough behind the inside play of Scott Haines (26 points) and Ken Viger (12 points). Gould held on to a six point cushion until half-time when the score read 34-28. After intermission the Rebels began to close the gap as Chris Torrey (11 points) and Chris Chapman (10 points) each scored a pair of baskets. Gould matched Telstar's spurt as Alex Nevens and Chris Drouin got hot, until with two minutes left in the fourth quarter Telstar took its first lead of 61-59. Then Gould drove down and missed a jumper but Chris Drouin snagged the rebound and laid it in for two and drew a foul. Drouin, "the man of the hour," calmly went to the line and banked in his free throw. Telstar then dribbled down court and threw away the ball. On the rebound pass Gould's Crandall was fouled and sank both his free throws to put the game out of reach of the Rebels. When the final buzzer sounded the scoreboard read 64-61 and the Huskies left with the bragging rights in Bethel until the next game.

Gould is now 5-2 for the season in SPA play for Class D.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The sixth annual meeting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies was held in Dixfield at the Congregational Church annex, on Jan. 17. The report of the nominating committee, consisting of Lynnan Holman, Dixfield, Beatrice Merrill, Oxford, and Agnes Lahti, Waterford, was presented. The nominees were as follows: president, Stanley Howe, Bethel; vice-president, Ben B. Conant, South Paris; secretary-treasurer, Mildred Dickson, Dixfield. The report was accepted and the officers for 1987 were re-elected.

Clarence Merrill, Jr., president of the Oxford County Historical Society, reported that sales for the forthcoming reprint of Marquis Fayette King's "Annals of Oxford" have been strong. He expressed appreciation to the league's president and vice-president for their roles in getting this project underway with New England History Press.

It was voted to formally incorporate the league and to sponsor student contests in Oxford County to honor the bicentenary of the U.S. Constitution. League President Stanley Howe reported that Randall Bennett's forthcoming book, "Oxford County, Maine: A Guide to its Historic Architecture," was expected to arrive soon at the Dr. Moses Mason House. He announced there would be a reception to which league members and guests would be invited and there would be an opportunity for purchasers of the book to have their copies autographed by the author.

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the monthly meeting will be Thursday, Feb. 5, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The program will feature a slide presentation by the society curator of collections, Randall H. Bennett, who will speak on the subject "Meeting House and Church in Early Oxford County."

Mr. Bennett has researched and written extensively on a variety of historical subjects. His articles have appeared in "Yankee," "New Hampshire Profiles," "Down East," and "The New England Galaxy," in addition to historical quarterlies and journals. His editorial/publication projects have included a selective index to the "Oxford Democrat" (from 1833 to 1892), the re-publication of Thomas T. Stone's "Sketches of Oxford County" (1830; 1975) and the editing, annotating, and publishing of Rev. Daniel Gould's 1826 manuscript history of Rumford, Maine (1975).

In 1977 he edited and published a 300-page regional Maine history, "Sunday River Sketches: A New England Chronicle." A frequent lecturer on New England architecture and White Mountain social history, he is also a recognized authority on Oxford County. His

The temperature isn't the only weather factor important to determine the outside conditions. The second most important factor is wind, the third being moisture.

When the wind blows, the wind chill factor (the temperature including the effects of the speed of the wind) decreases with the speed. The wind cools the body very rapidly, increasing the chance of frostbite or hypothermia. Exposed areas of skin, like the face or hands, are particularly vulnerable to frostbite.

The presence of moisture either from the air, from sweat caused by exertion, or from ground water like ponds or streams greatly increase the risk of hypothermia. Clothing is vital to protect the body from severe weather conditions. Either stay inside when the weather conditions are unfavorable or protect the body from exposure from the elements. Winter can be a lot of fun, especially if we are prepared for the weather.

JEFF MARKS, NEWS DIRECTOR OF WCSH-TV, Channel 6, was the guest speaker at a recent Rotary breakfast meeting. Mr. Marks and his staff are responsible for putting on four newscasts a day. Planning for the day's newscasts begins the day before, he said, with the list of stories to be tackled on the 6 p.m. newscast actually getting put together that morning. The deadlines of TV news have no leeway, he said. "We can't hold the presses. We have to go on at 6." While he has only seven or eight reporters out gathering news, he has a news staff of 34—and those are the more important people, he said. "The key to success in this business [is] who you hire for behind the scenes." The other key for success is accuracy. "Scarcely a week goes by when someone doesn't call up and say, 'I'm going to sue you.' So we have to be right." So far the station has not been sued in the three years he's been in charge of the newscasts. Mr. Marks revealed that the station would be beefing up its coverage of Oxford County news by adding a full-time reporter to its Lewiston office.

CRESCENT PARK 3rd-GRADERS LEARN TO WORK WITH CLAY

Crescent Park School third-graders were given an opportunity to work with clay, thanks to Melody Bonnema and Mariah Perkins. They demonstrated how to shape the clay.
The students then created and decorated their own pots.

This special activity enhanced the children's awareness of how the Indians used their resources for survival in everyday life.

Later, at Bonnema's pottery, the children finished their pots by experimenting with glazes. They will be ready to bring home their creations once the pots have been fired in the kiln.

Mrs. Mary Jaros, of Rumford, is spending a few days visiting with her son, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jaros and family. Mr. and Mrs. James Sennett Jr., of East Andover, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Averill, of East Rumford, returned Monday after spending a few days in Orlando, Fla. While there they visited Sea World, Busch Gardens, and Silver Springs, and the temperature was in the 80s all the time.

On Thursday, Mrs. Rex Thurston took her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jodrey, to Lewiston for a doctor's appointment.

What a pretty snowstorm, but now the problem is where to put all the snow. It's like living in an igloo. You hear cars go by but can't see them or see anyone walking by.

Mrs. Beatrice Dresser was taken by ambulance Thursday evening to the Rumford Community Hospital.

North Paris

By EVELINE B. VATCHER

Joe Reidy, his son-in-law, Michael Spencer and son, Christopher, Tyngsboro, Mass., spent the weekend at the Reidy trailer. Christopher brought his all-terrain vehicle and rode up and down the Trask road. No traffic there.

Sympathy is expressed to the family of Richard Robbins in his passing.

Harlan Abbott took his two nephews, Samuel and Aaron Newton, of South Paris, to see Joe and Eveline Vatcher Saturday, Jan. 19. Harlan has a red caboose hooked on back of his snowmobile and Samuel rode in that by himself and Aaron rode on the snowmobile and tried to put his arms around Uncle but they were too short so he hung onto his jacket. They asked Eveline to ride in the caboose but she declined. The boys' father helped Harlan throw out the water pipes, which froze Friday night near the well. Harlan said he couldn't remember it of freezing before.

Friday, Jan. 16, Doris Lawrence and Arnold Coffin called on their sister, Alice Goff, at Cozy Inn, Rumford, and also called on the Norman Abbotts.

John Haney Sr. fell on the ice and broke his hip and was at Stephens Memorial Hospital several days. He was removed to Togus today (Jan. 22). We wish him well. He has been in poor health for a long time.

Mrs. Leslie Bailey and her six-month-old daughter went by plane to St. Petersburg, Fla., on Jan. 20, to spend three weeks with her parents. They missed a nice big snowstorm.

Harry Child, respiratory specialist from Stephens Memorial Hospital, was at Eveline's Wednesday afternoon.

Philip and Virginia Hyum, former residents here, moved to Florida and Virginia has been sick so the doctor thought she would be better if she returned to Maine, where their children live. They would like to settle near West Paris village.

Callers at Lawrence's: Mr. and Mrs. Odell Heath, Joe Vatcher, and Arnold Coffin.

As I put down these few items we are having an old-fashioned blizzard or northeaster. When we have these kind of days Eveline is glad to be retired. She doesn't do much work during the storm but she does watch all the snowflakes tumbling down and wonders why they are in such a hurry to blow down the

By HARRIETT STOWELL

Alanson Cummings celebrated his 89th birthday on Jan. 20 with a party of family members at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Lovejoy.

Guests of Ann Mason last week were her grandson, John Grant, and fiancée, of Westbrook, who spent Saturday night and Sunday with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gallant, of Mexico, and Marjorie Fuller, of South Paris, had lunch with Maxine Lovejoy Wednesday.

Ann Mason also celebrated a birthday last week—her 81st. Friends called and phoned throughout the day and several gathered to eat the lovely cake baked by Kathy Farren.

CARD OF THANKS
I want to thank my friends and neighbors for the gifts, flowers, and many cards I received while in the hospital and since getting home. I appreciate it very much.
Beverly Swan

Mr. and Mrs. William Aridas, Medford, L.I., New York, spent the past weekend with her parents, Vernon and Miriam Inman. The menfolks enjoyed snowmobiling.

The annual meeting of the Universalist Church will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 28, at Goodwill Hall. Much sympathy is extended to the family of Richard Robbins upon his recent death.

On the sick list are Karen Hakala and Susan Herrick, daughter of Mark and Debbie Herrick—both have pneumonia. Hope they shake it soon.

The West Paris Senior Citizens met on Jan. 6 at the Legion Hall for a potluck dinner and meeting. There were 31 present. Cards of sympathy were signed for Lena Mustonen and Myrtle Heikkinen. Get well cards were signed for Madeline Jacobs, Alice Littlehale and Raymond Farr. A "thank you" note was read from William O'Connor. Officers for 1987 were installed as

By COLISTA MORGAN

A violet dawn stole above the eastern tree-tops, as I looked from my kitchen window. I looked out upon a morning panorama, an expanse of blue sky fluffed with a few clouds. The sun nearing the top of the hills was about to punch the time-clock and start a new day. What a day it was!

Through the cold 'teen-clenched air the icicles hanging from my roof glittered and the snow sparkled with diamonds. Later, in the afternoon, I went for a walk.

The glistening needles of the evergreens were whispering songs through the sweet-scented balsams, the pines and deep-shaded blue of spruces.

At my right, ridge after ridge ran in the west, each curve like a stallion's mane. The mountains of Maine are insignificant compared to the Alps and some others. Some people find them oppressive and awesome. They feel shut in, but I don't. I love them and look at them the first thing every morning. Even when hidden by mist and clouds I can feel them there. I have always lived among them and climbed many. I feel that the forests and mountains are the power and glory of America and a part of the sweep and dignity of life.

The snow had performed magic tricks with hedges and paths and made crystal stars on their shoulders.

At home again I reviewed the day and was glad that I ventured out.

Leonas Holt came home from the Maine Medical Center on Jan. 13.

On Wednesday the T.T. Group went out to lunch, then met at the home of Dorothy Ross in West Paris. I joined them for the day.

The Erwin Dunns and Goldie Bergeron of Temple were guests at the Bergerons. They went up to Wilson's Mills to see the deer which are fed there daily.

Several coyote hunters were working with their walker hounds in this area over the weekend. Unfortunately they were unsuccessful.

Mardie Edwards had a large owl in the trees near her home. It scared off the chickadees, which frequent her feeders and set the bluejays to screaming.

Reggie Edwards' cousin, Jim, helped run the lines on the Edwards property. Grampa and Shirley Staples visited friends and relatives in the area Saturday and Sunday.

The town's plow truck was in a rather tight spot on Mill Hill last week. A skidder and driver from James River had to pull it out of the ditch. The driveways and side roads are getting rather narrow with all the snow we've had of late.

The budget meeting scheduled for last Thursday was postponed a week due to the hazardous traveling that night.

Dennis Casco helped Joseph make what they hope will be the winning Pinewood Derby car.

On Thursday Carl and Lettie Brooks took me to Bethel to the dentist.

Doris Munn R.N. called on me on Friday. She works with the Androscoggin Home Health Care at Norway.

Larry Durgin has been doing the barn chores for Leonas Holt.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis and Dorothy Curtis have called to see Frank Curtis at Market Square Nursing Home several times.

NEWS FROM BETHEL AREA Health Center

Additional doctor

Dr. Tom O'Meara, who will be joining the staff at the Bethel Area Health Center on a permanent basis in August of this year, will be spending the month of February at the center. Dr. O'Meara wants to familiarize himself with the center and its patients and will be looking for housing for him and his family when they join us in the summer.

Dr. O'Meara has an impressive educational and work background. He was a physician's assistant for three years prior to attending the University of Vermont Medical School, where he graduated in 1984. Other work experience includes that of a lab technician in the Red Cross Blood Center in Burlington, Vt. Dr. O'Meara is completing his third year residency in family practice from the Eastern Maine Medical Center in Bangor.

Along with his wife Elizabeth, and sons Michael and Matthew, Tom is looking forward to relocating in the Bethel area upon completion of his residency in June 1987.

SPECIAL FILM TO BE SHOWN AT BETHEL GOSPEL CENTER

Millions of people have seen the "Focus on the Family" film series featuring Dr. James C. Dobson. These films will be shown at the Bethel Gospel Center, Route 26, Bethel. Beginning Sunday evening, Feb. 1, at 6 p.m. a different film will be shown each week for seven consecutive weeks, concluding on Sunday, March 15. Each film will be followed by a time of discussion and practical application. The first film is entitled "The Strong Willed Child." A free will offering will be received. Every one is extended a cordial invitation to attend.
